

To Whom It May Concern:

This was our first experience buying a house as a couple. We met Mike by chance, when he was covering at a local homebuilder's office for the regular employees. From the very beginning, Mike was jovial and informative. I had many questions (my wife had many more), but Mike was able to patiently answer questions both simple and complicated. Throughout the decision-making process, Mike put us at ease about choices that would affect us throughout the next many years, despite our own cynicism and doubt about "salesmen" and their intentions. Mike's humor and more importantly, his clear answers, made our lives much easier. We are enjoying our new home, and have Mike's number nearby, knowing he'll have answers to questions we haven't thought of yet.

Sincerely,

Yosri Hassan
